"PRINT OUT AND MAKE IT AT HOME" EDITION

Instructions

To get playing, all you need are scissors and glue. Simply cut out the cards along the dotted lines, then fold and glue each card in half like a book (with the question on one side and the letter on the other.)

Then have a peek at the rules, get some players together and off you go.
DINKEE LINKEE RULES

1 AIM

To spell LINKEE

Every question card has a letter on the back. To win a letter you must be the first person (or team) to shout out the correct link on that card. Win enough letters to spell LINKEE and you've won the game.

2 PREP

One person must volunteer to be the Question Master (QM). Don't worry about being the QM, it's good fun because you get to boss people about. Everyone else splits into teams. Each team grabs a pencil and paper. Teams can also look at a few question cards before they start, to get the hang of things.

3 START

The QM draws the first question card and shows all teams the letter they are playing for. The QM reads Q1 on the card and all teams write down the answer, if they know it. (The QM must never reveal the answers to any of the questions as these are clues to solving the link!) The QM then reads Q2, then Q3, then Q4. At any time a team can shout Linkee and guess the link. (You can guess as early as Q1 if you are brave enough.)

ANSWERING

Once a team shouts LINKEE! they must answer. (No backing out even if you're really, really sorry.) If you answer before shouting Linkee your answer doesn't count. Shout the right link, however, and win that card. Shout the wrong link and your team is out until the next card. If there is only one team left in the game at this point, that team gets all the remaining questions and clue read to them.

CLUE

If, after all four questions have been read out, no team is able (or willing) to guess the link, the QM reads out the clue. All teams still left in might as well try guessing now – nothing to lose. If no team gets the Linkee right, the QM draws a new card.

4 TRADING RULES

Win more letters than you need and you can trade them in to the QM for a bonus move. (The only time you can't trade-in is when another team is answering the link.)

2 LETTER TRADE

Hand two spare letters to the QM and you can choose an opponent's letter you want removed from the game.

3 LETTER TRADE

Hand three spare letters to the QM and ask for a letter you need in return. The QM takes it from the box.

WINNING

The first team to win enough letters to spell Linkee wins.
